Methods of Instruction

- Lecture/Discussion
- Distance Learning

Lecture:

1. Instructor presents a lecture analyzing the influence of Tsar Peter I on the culture, military, and society of Russia. This lecture critically evaluates how European practices influenced Peter to impose changes upon Russia, utilizing both primary and secondary sources.
2. Instructor sets up a group activity with primary and secondary sources evaluating the influence of the Era of Mongol Domination on Russian political structure and on the Russian Orthodox Church. This activity requires students to compare and contrast the Mongol era with the Khazar era and the Kievan era.

Distance Learning

1. In an online class, instructor creates a discussion assignment in which students use the textbook and Atlas to analyze and discuss the influence of geography and climate on Russia's wars during the 19th century.

Typical Out of Class Assignments Reading Assignments

1. Based upon textbook and assigned primary documents, evaluate the relative influence of foreign relations and economic concerns in the construction of the Trans-Siberian Railroad. 2. Analyze assigned primary and secondary documents and historical maps to discuss the influence of Catherine the Great on Russia's economy and social structure.

Writing, Problem Solving or Performance

1. Analyze the historical significance of "The Nakaz" (primary document) in relation to the political successes and failures of Catherine the Great, and write a 2-page essay explaining your conclusions and comparing the document information to the information presented in the textbook.
2. Write a short essay on an exam comparing & contrasting the 1905 Revolution and the Decembrist Revolt. Include details about long-term causes, immediate causes, and participants.

Other (Term projects, research papers, portfolios, etc.)

1. Using maps, online documents, and written sources, create a visual presentation (using Powerpoint or Prezi or a physical poster) that illustrates the effects of geography and climate on the culture and major events of the Kievan era. 2. Choose a research topic related to the course and locate appropriate primary and secondary sources. Based on those sources, write a 10-page research paper analyzing the topic. Include properly-formatted quotes, citations, and a bibliography.
