Overview

The Communication Studies program focuses on how people use messages and symbols to generate meaning, critique and relate to one another across various contexts, cultures, channels and media. Providing inquiry into performances of the self and our communities, attending to issues of power and diversity and producing works of media and performance toward social justice; communication is a diverse discipline that serves as the basis for an ever-expanding understanding of how we all communicate.

Students may transfer as Communication Studies majors to the university level and/or use their education as introductory training for careers in social science, media, journalism, broadcasting, public information, media research, public opinion analysis, government and multimedia design.

- Journalism for Transfer (p. 2)

Communication Studies for Transfer 2.0

AA-T Degree

Communication Studies is a broadly based discipline that includes public speaking, mass and mediated communication, journalism, interpersonal, intercultural and group communication. The degree program allows students to critically analyze information and arguments, evaluate and create effective oral and written messages, write and deliver effective presentations and formulate communication solutions to problems in professional and personal contexts. This degree program will prepare students to transfer as Communication Studies majors to the university level as well as use their education as an introduction to careers in fields such as journalism, public relations, fundraising, law, broadcasting, mediation, human resources, customer relations, business management and education.

The Associate in Arts in Communication Studies for Transfer degree (AA-T) prepares students to transfer into the CSU system to complete a bachelor's degree in Communication Studies or a major deemed similar by a CSU campus. Students earning an associate degree for transfer and meeting the CSU minimum transfer admission requirements are guaranteed admission with junior standing to the CSU system, but not to a particular campus or major. Upon transfer, students will be required to complete no more than 60 additional prescribed units to earn a bachelor's degree.

To earn the Associate in Arts in Communication Studies for Transfer degree, students must complete 60 CSU-transferable semester units with a minimum grade point average of 2.0, including both of the following:

- completion of all courses required for the major with grades of "C" or better; and
- California General Education Transfer Curriculum (Cal-GETC) (<http://catalog.sierracollege.edu/student-resources/general-education/california-general-education-transfer-curriculum-cal-getc/>)

The exact wording of the law pertaining to associate degrees for transfer may be found in Education Code Section 66746.

It is highly recommended that, prior to transferring, students complete courses that satisfy the CSU United States History, Constitution and American Ideals graduation requirement. In all cases, students should consult with a counselor for more information on university admission and transfer requirements.

RESTRICTION: International coursework from non-United States regionally accredited institutions cannot be applied to associate degrees for transfer.

ATTENTION: Effective Fall 2025, the California Community College system will implement Common Course Numbering (CCN) per state mandate (AB1111). CCN courses will be common across all California Community Colleges. One course in Communication Studies has been included in CCN effective Fall 2025: COMM C1000 (formerly COMM 1).

COMM C1000. Introduction to Public Speaking

Units: 3

Formerly known as COMM 1

Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL C1000

Hours: 54 lecture

In this course, students learn and apply foundational rhetorical theories and techniques of public speaking in a multicultural democratic society. Students discover, develop, and critically analyze ideas in public discourse through research, reasoning, organization, composition, rhetorical sensitivity, creative expression, delivery to a live audience and evaluation of various types of speeches, including informative and persuasive speeches. (C-ID COMM 110) (CSU, UC-with unit limitation)

COMM 0002. Argumentation and Rhetorical CriticismUnits: 3*

Prerequisite: Completion of ENGL C1000 with grade of "C" or better

Hours: 54 lecture

Argumentation and rhetorical criticism focuses on methods of critical inquiry, advocacy, and argumentative writing through the written and oral traditions. Students will refine and strengthen critical thinking skills necessary to identify, analyze, and evaluate communicative messages and arguments in a variety of forms. Theoretical components will introduce students to perspectives toward argument analysis to develop and use basic criteria for identifying and evaluating effective, ethical arguments. Significant emphasis will be placed on the sophistication of writing assignments surrounding argument and rhetoric producing at least 5,000 words for the semester. (C-ID COMM 120) (CSU, UC)

COMM 0003. Small Group CommunicationUnits: 3*

Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL C1000

Hours: 54 lecture

The study of small group communication through the analysis and evaluation of communication theories. Includes planning and completing small group projects and presentations to implement problem-solving methods, conflict management, and decision-making to develop effective communication skills. (C-ID COMM 140) (CSU, UC)

COMM 0005. Communication FoundationsUnits: 3*

Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL C1000

Hours: 54 lecture

Introduction to communication theories, concepts, and effective communication skills for a variety of social contexts. Includes practical experiences and skill building in public speaking, interpersonal, intercultural, and small group settings. (C-ID COMM 115) (CSU, UC-with unit limitation)

COMM 0006. Performance of Diverse LiteraturesUnits: 3*

Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL C1000

Hours: 54 lecture

Introduction to performance studies and issues of diversity and social justice with works that bring these issues to light. Through the analysis, selection, and interpretation of genres such as poetry, oral history, prose, humor, and drama, students deepen their appreciation for literature, gain skill in performance, and insight into the role of voice, identity, and social justice in spoken arts. Focus on critiquing performance in context with key concepts from the field. Includes analysis of literature for themes, script writing, delivery, and the co-production of solo and/or group performance events. (C-ID COMM 170) (CSU, UC)

COMM 0007. Intercultural CommunicationUnits: 3*

Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL C1000

Hours: 54 lecture

Explores communication between people of different cultural communities both globally and locally. Intercultural communication is grounded within historical, political, organizational and interpersonal contexts that shape our individual interactions. This course focuses on intercultural communication theories and research to help students analyze identity, perception, conflict, and how power, privilege and oppression are perpetuated in societies. (C-ID COMM 150) (CSU, UC)

COMM 0008. Interpersonal CommunicationUnits: 3*

Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL C1000

Hours: 54 lecture

The study of interpersonal communication through an examination of theory and research findings. This course investigates the application of the principles of verbal and nonverbal transactions, key interpersonal concepts, and the dynamics of communication in personal and professional contexts. (C-ID COMM 130) (CSU, UC)

COMM 0010. Communication Theory, Methods, and PracticeUnits: 3*

Advisory: Eligibility for ENGL C1000; completion with grade of "C" or better or concurrent enrollment in COMM C1000 or 5

Hours: 54 lecture

The study of human communication through hands-on research methods that serve as specializations to the field of Communication Studies. This course explores human communication patterns through an examination of critical approaches, key concepts, and founding theories. Students engage in original inquiry, research and data gathering, analysis and discovery. (C-ID COMM 180) (CSU, UC)
