Methods of Evaluation

- Classroom Discussions
 - Example: Class discussions are used to evaluate students' ability to verbally analyze paintings, sculptures and architecture and their use of correct vocabulary and terminology. For example, students would be asked how a specific work illustrates a historical style.
- Essay Examinations
 - Example: Essay exams related to lecture topics. For example: students are asked to explain in writing theories about the social function of images of the female nude, such as Picasso's "Seated Bather, 1930," and are asked to explain the relationships between it and a 21st century nude by, for example, Eric Fischl in terms of changing attitudes toward nudity in Western culture.
- Objective Examinations
 - Example: Objective exams, such as multiple-choice exams in which students must: 1. Define vocabulary terms and aesthetic concepts 2. Identify images of sculptures, drawings, paintings and structures by: Title, Artist/Architect and school or time period.
- Reports
 - Example: A report is typically a term paper that the instructor uses to address a specific theme or artist in the course. For example, a student chooses an artist, researches her/his life and in writing, describes, analyzes and evaluates that artist's contribution to the art of the times.

Methods of Instruction

- Lecture/Discussion
- Distance Learning

Lecture:

1. 1- Lecture/Distance Learning Instructor presents visually-oriented lectures (online and in traditional classrooms), such as PowerPoint presentations, about paintings and sculptures and their historical contexts: For example, a PowerPoint lecture on Realist painting or sculpture as it appears in Mid-19th century Paris and its evolution through the Modern period to similar works of the present.
2. Discussion The instructor creates class and small group discussions (online and in traditional classrooms) focused on comparing and contrasting the social functions of Realism and the changes in painting and sculptural styles from Impressionism in the Mid-19th century to Photo Realism in the 20th century that were featured in the lectures.

Distance Learning

1. Instructor uses wikis, discussion boards, blogs and audio-visual lectures. A. Students use wikis to research Realist artists, paintings or sculptures as they appear in Mid-19th century Paris and their evolution through the Modern period to similar works of the present. B. Students post their findings on discussion boards and are required to comment on each others posts.
2. Instructor can also supplement lectures, discussions, online research, posts and comments, etc., by organizing: A. Field trips to museums and galleries and by showing; B. Documentary films exploring the lives of artists, architects and significant art historical events that relate to the subject matter of the lectures.

Typical Out of Class Assignments

Reading Assignments

1. Read the section on "Postmodernism" in your text. In a three-page, typed double-spaced paper explain in your own words how postmodern art differs from modern art. In your paper, include a discussion of Cindy Sherman's postmodern photographic work. What characterizes this work as postmodern? In your opinion, is this art? Why or why not? 2. Read the sections in the text on Art Nouveau, the International Style and the "Organic" styles of architecture. In a four-page, typed double-spaced paper, describe and analyze the differences and similarities of these styles, giving specific examples of the structures of Victor Horta, Ludwig Mies van der Rohe and Frank Lloyd Wright to back up your conclusions.

Writing, Problem Solving or Performance

1. Identify two paintings or sculptures of similar subject matter from two different periods of Modern art. (For example, an abstract nude by Picasso and a nude self-portrait by Paula Modersohn-Becker.) Analyze, compare and contrast the works with regard to the social contexts of Cubism and Expressionism. 2. You and four fellow classmates have been hired by a film producer as art historical consultants for an upcoming film about Frank Lloyd Wright. Your task is to prepare a detailed written description of Wright's life and career, including his buildings, drawings, photography, etc. The movie executive knows very little about the world of art and architecture during Wright's time so it is important to discuss the social context surrounding Wright's art. Finally, what actor would you recommend to play the role of Wright and why?

Other (Term projects, research papers, portfolios, etc.)

1. Select one modernist or postmodernist painting, sculpture or structure. Write a five page research paper about the work that includes a brief biography of the artist or architect, a discussion of the style of the work, and an explanation of how the work relates to the social context in which it was created. Include a thorough discussion of your reasons for selecting this work and why you feel it is an important contribution to the world. The paper must be typed and in MLA format. 2. Through library research, find an example of a painting or sculpture that has been identified as a fraud or may possibly be a fraud. Explain in writing the circumstances surrounding the fraudulent work, the forger, and how the situation was resolved- if it was. Be sure to discuss the problem of art fraud and explain how it makes you feel as an art history student. The paper must be typed and in MLA format.
